Rich Swingle directs the theatre program for the MasterWorks Festival at Grace College, Winona Lake, IN. Rich lives in New York and has performed in 19 nations including many leading cities such as in LA, Toronto, Hong Kong, Shanghai, and Beijing during the 2008 Olympics.

Who should come: Adults and mature high school students who are interested in drama, prayer, adventure! Those who like to work on stage and back stage.

Workshops will include:

Enacted Prayer - ...is simply praying with movement rather than words. Rich has taught the prayer form all over the world, and has found that it gives people a more clear prayer direction, gets people excited about praying, and is often answered dramatically.

The Physical Actor - Rich has developed a workshop in which he teaches how to develop a character from head to toe. This is Rich's most popular workshop.

Sociodrama - This is dynamic process developed to explore social issues can be used by actors, directors and writers to enhance their work. We'll use it to explore some of the themes of the upcoming Lausanne Congress for World Evangelization (www.CapeTown2010.com), and through that process develop a script for them. Rich is on their planning committee for Media and the Arts, so there is a very good chance that the sketch we create together will be performed at the Congress in South Africa for 4,500 delegates from 200 nations.

(Workshop topics subject to last minute change.)
