

Where are you running?

Is your life on track?

Still in the starting blocks?

We're all running somewhere, aren't we? It seems like life gets faster and faster. Is your goal clear? Eric Liddell once ran at Penn State, and he often quoted from the sign above the entrance to the stadium: "In the dust of defeat as well as in the laurels of victory there is a glory to be found if one has done his best." But what glory is your best for? Uncle Eric's favorite book, The Bible, says we were created to glorify God (Isaiah 43:7). If you're striving to achieve glory for yourself alone, it will be a hollow victory.

Is anything keeping you from glorifying God? Is it family? Culture? Another god?

Don't let ANYTHING come between you and the greatest peace and fulfillment you'll ever know.

If you're ready, pray this prayer: "Dear Jesus, I've been running my own race. I've made mistakes. Forgive me, and make me white as snow (Isaiah 1:18). Help me to run for your glory. Amen."

If you prayed sincerely, you now have peace with God. If you're not ready to pray it and mean it, talk to someone tonight. Tell them what's keeping you from crossing the greatest finish line in all of time (Acts 20:24).

This column is a spacer.

Print this page on both sides of 8 1/2" x 11" pieces of paper. Use paper stock that is heavy enough to use as a bookmark.

Cut them into equal thirds. Each page will yield two "bookmarks" with the left column on one side and the right column on the other.

If you have to choose between using color on the program or on this, choose this one!

Thanks for making this investment in the lives of those who will experience the Beyond the Chariots.

Hopefully tonight's play was entertaining, but maybe it's also inspired you to take some kind of action. If so, we'd love to know about it, so we can help you achieve what you've set out to do. If one or more of the following describes a decision you made tonight, please check one or more boxes and leave it with an usher.

- I asked Jesus to make me white as snow for the first time.
- I rededicated my life to the Lord.
- I sense a call to missions.
- I need prayer: _____

Do you not know that in a race all the runners run, but only one gets the prize? Run in such a way as to get the prize. Everyone who competes in the games goes into strict training. They do it to get a crown that will not last; but we do it to get a crown that will last forever.
